Band Biography

Led by acclaimed trumpeter and composer Zachary Finnegan, Sonic Cinema is a powerhouse of innovation and storytelling through music. Renowned for his cinematic approach to music, Finnegan creates compositions that weave together elements of jazz, orchestral textures, gospel grooves, and dynamic improvisation. The ensemble's sound is deeply emotional and narrative-driven, captivating both traditional jazz enthusiasts and a broader audience seeking fresh, boundary-pushing artistry.

The ensemble features an all-star lineup, including Lenard Simpson (saxophone), Matt Gold (guitar), Julius Tucker (piano), Ethan Phillion (bass), and Camila Mennitte Pereyra (drums). Together, they deliver a unique blend of intimate storytelling and thrilling performance, showcased in Finnegan's critically acclaimed debut album, Guidance & Gratitude.

Drawing inspiration from personal experiences, mentorship, and a global perspective gained from performing on four continents, Finnegan brings heartfelt authenticity to every composition. From lush, string-laden ballads to driving grooves and fiery solos, Sonic Cinema takes listeners on a profound journey of growth, reflection, and celebration.
